Description

In Audacious' appearance settings it does say that only ASCII is supported if you use the bitmap fonts from a Winamp skin. And this is true as far as Audacious support goes.
However, in every single Winamp skin I've looked through, the font contains the Swedish characters ÅÖÄ at the bottom. It's unclear why only Swedish is supported in addition to ASCII while other larger languages go unsupported, and it's also unclear why they're in that order. However, since they are included, wouldn't it be reasonable to support these in addition to ASCII?
