Description Hello. I use Fedora 33 and always have used audacious, HOWEVER, since there is no ftk interface I have to drop it. I really hate qt interfaces without the ability to use dark themes, and even then it does not work with my system theme. The switch to qt interface, in my opinion, is a mistake. So I uninstalled it. I went to deadbeef, not quite as nice as audacious, but it does respect the system ftk theme.

Okay, that's fine, you can use whatever software you want.
