Description

Maybe I've compiled Audacious incorrectly (GTK build), but upon right mouse click in my playlist I see a submenu "Services" with nothing under it.

Could we maybe hide it in this case?

Hey, I noticed that you've made a lot of requests for changes and new features lately. Perhaps you've also noticed that new feature development for Audacious has slowed down somewhat in recent years.

Maybe consider implementing the changes yourself, or hiring someone to do so? I'm just trying to prevent you from being disappointed, if you're hoping for a volunteer to step up and implement all the changes you'd like.

John, I perfectly see it and if you're annoyed and not eager to continue coding as you did before, you may as well close them all. I don't have any expectations from you and my C++ talents are pretty much missing, so it's unlikely I'll do it myself. Speaking of the help outside, I'll think about it.
