Description
I've accidentally deleted a track from a playlist several times now and I've always instinctively pressed Ctrl+Z to undo the deletion, but nothing happened because Audacious lacks this functionality. Would it be possible to implement it? I think it would be very useful and it should be easy to implement.

Could we reopen this request?

Are you planning to implement the feature? There's not much point in reopening a feature request unless someone is going to work on it.
