Description

When selecting a color with our custom color button, its background color should be set to the selected result.

This does not work for me on Linux.
I'm using the Arc theme, but also tried others - same issue.
Please see the attached screenshots and a proposed patch.

@Ariadne: Since you wrote this code, how does it look on Mac before and after my patch?

Seems fine to me, go ahead and apply it.

On Linux, it depends on the theme engine -- with Kvantum the button is colored already, but with the GTK2 platform plugin it isn't.

I don't have any better solution to suggest, so +1 from me.
